Core Competencies

Audacious Inner Works Institute LLC is a NYC certified M/WBE and approved NYC Department of Education vendor specializing in personal development and staff capacity building. We partner with city agencies, public schools, and other institutions to develop staff capacity by employing professional coaching and facilitation to address workplace challenges such as unresolved dynamics, misaligned communication, and outdated processes that weaken team connection and organization trust. By employing learning-driven processes, we empower organizations to learn how to learn, leverage their agency, and achieve mission-aligned transformation.

We leverage decades of expertise from public education, professional coaching, and consulting to partner with our clients in a myriad of ways to achieve breakthrough solutions. Our comprehensive suite of services includes cross-functional team-building, leadership and group coaching, conflict resolution, and curriculum design—each customized to harness organizational strengths towards increased productivity and mission delivery.

We exist to be a trusted development partner, collaborating with clients and stakeholders to design, deliver, and evaluate powerful learning experiences. Through a custom-tailored approach, we create space for deep insight, reflection, and breakthrough solutions that spur proactive, robust workplace environments.

Differentiators

One prominent distinguisher is our expertise in facilitating collaborative learning processes that build organizational staff capacity. We employ a bold yet warm style of coaching and facilitation to achieve disruption and move teams and organizations forward.

- We are a powerful development partner, working closely with our clients and key stakeholders to design, deliver, and evaluate bespoke professional experiences.
- Rather than offer “expert” advice or quick fixes, we facilitate deep learning, cultivate a foundation for courageous leadership, and leverage organizational strengths for transformative impact.
- Our synergistic background in public education, consulting, and professional coaching uniquely positions us to partner with our clients in a myriad of ways—facilitate, coach, teach, mastermind, curate, and design—to achieve breakthrough solutions.
